PREFACE.

The third issue of the American Church Directory is respectfully offered to our Bishops, other clergy and laity. Its usefulness has been amply demonstrated and it has, at length, to our pleasure, established a sure position as an important book of reference in relation to the affairs of the Church.

'Tis true that there are still those who do not approve of the mission of the Directory; but we believe it to be equally certain that this disapproval is due to causes easily explained and readily determined. In a work of general reference to persons, places and things, there cannot fail to be blemishes, shortcomings and defects to those whose point of view is not, as we think, well chosen. We, however, are fully assured that when the Directory shall have, of itself, shown solid justification for its being, all will view it aright, applaud its purpose and unequivocally approve its mission.

It has been alleged by some of the clergy that in their cases the American Church Directory has worked them positive and serious injury as witness the contents of the following letter on which we shall comment after quoting:

"November 21, 1904.

I enclose you the blank as requested. It has recently come to my knowledge that serious injury was done to me by your publication, and it seems to me that many other men may suffer in the same way. You assemble in one view the fact that a man has changed very often, but you give no information as to the character of the parishes, or how long men usually stay in them. For instance, take [a parish named]. The parish register there ran back to 1830, I think. From then until 1884, no man had ever stayed in the parish over three years, and I think only one stayed that long. At the end of my year I was offered the next position on my list, and it was represented to me that the position was a secure one, offering great opportunities for usefulness to the Church. Well, I bit! Bishop ——— assured me that he heard nothing but good of my work in the field, and I have yet to hear of any serious fault found with me in the field, but a hard year followed upon the prosperous one in which the agreement was made, and the city parishes who were to support the work backed out, and left me in the lurch. There was absolutely no complaint of my work or of me in any direction. I can also truly say that outside of the fussing characteristic of the Eastern Shore in the days before the railroad broke up its two centuries of isolation, there was no especial reason for me to have left ———. Again, take my six months on the ———; this was simply an act of brotherly kindness on my part. The Rev. ———, an invalid as you know for many years, was in 1887, on the eve of a breakdown. He wished to go abroad with Bp. ———, who had just gone through the ——— trial, and had been ordered abroad. D—— wired me to meet him in New York, where Bp. ——— was, to consult over the work which he was doing, and I said to him, "You are too valuable a man for the Church to lose, and so, at whatever cost to myself, I will go to ———, and stay the six months that you ask for."

Now, it turns out that when I have unhesitatingly gone to the hardest fields, and have worked faithfully in them, commending myself to my bishops, and holding the respect of the people of every community that I have been in, your publication comes along, and by a setting forth of bare facts, practically classes me in the eyes of the Church with the inefficient and the unworthy. In other words, you make my faithfulness to the Church, and to the souls of men, a reproach to me. It does not do to say that you are not responsible for this result, for you profess to give to those who are to say whether a man shall have work, "I give you the facts about the man." Now let me illustrate: The mate of a certain vessel went to the logbook, and found in the captain's writing the entry, "The mate was drunk today." Going to the captain he begged him to change it. "Isn't it true?" asked the captain. "Yes, I am sorry to say that I was a little overcome." "Then it must stand. Whatever goes on the log, and is true, must stay there." So off the mate went, and when the captain next looked at the logbook, these words stared him in the face, "The captain was sober today!" Now, suppose that mate had died on the voyage, or that he had refused to explain the entry by saying that the captain had been sober not only that day, but every other day, what chance would the captain have of getting another ship?

Now it seems to me that as you have started this publication, you are under the most solemn obligation to find a way to remedy this evil result of your work, which is doubtless good in many respects.

When once the idea is suggested that such a test shows the man, that I was only one year in ——— seems to be a bad showing, yet when you consider that the parish has been vacant about one-fourth of its time, only one man staying ten years, in its fifty years, the case is altered a little. See how that man of God, the ———, was treated there, and then consider it over again.

I will plead guilty of one business error, which I now see to be an error, though I had not aforetime known it. I have gone to the bishops when I wanted to make a change. I have lately learned two facts. A. Most bishops look askance on the man who directly asks them for work. (This I understand, is the direct statement of the Bishop of ———.) B. In a majority of our parishes, the surest way to prevent a man's being called is to have the bishop recommend him to them. It seems to me that these two facts explain the succession of excessively difficult fields that have come to me.

It occurs to me that the blank will probably go into the hands of clerks, and I will therefore send this to you separately.

Yours faithfully,

We are moved by the account of the untoward circumstances of his ministry given by the reverend writer, but we are bound to deny that we are to be held responsible for either their causes or consequences. To have made frequent changes in his ministry is not in itself, nor, we believe, it is so held to be, damaging to any clergyman whose character and good standing are proved. It is very difficult to reply to the writer when he states: "Now, it turns out that when I have unhesitatingly gone to the hardest fields, and have worked faithfully in them, commending myself to my Bishops, and holding the respect of the people of every community that I have been in, your publication comes along, and by a setting forth of bare facts, practically classes me in the eyes of the Church with the inefficient and the unworthy. In other words you make my faithfulness to the Church, and to the souls of men, a reproach to me," because his words disclose too delicate and rare a quality of sensitiveness for the ridding himself of which we think our brother should adopt vigorous means. There are many of the dignitaries of the Church to-day, including some Bishops, whose earlier ministry was marked by frequent changes. Good brother, take courage! The brilliance and magnitude of a star are in nowise affected by the fact that that star may chance to be a planet. Finally, our reverend objector having borne an unwilling testimony most gratifying to us, to the influence of our publication, he turns a somersault and bringing two charges against the Bishops concludes with, "It seems to me that these two facts explain the succession of excessively difficult fields that have come to me." Humor, thou art, indeed, a saving grace!

Another clerical correspondent is so hopelessly at sea in relation to the Directory that he writes: "Permit me to thank you for your circular. I must, however, insist upon my old established custom absolutely prohibiting my name for a monetary profit to others." Why not, we might ask in all fitness "prohibit" the back "for a monetary profit" to "a tailor"! It may be stated that the "monetary profit" of the American Church Directory to anyone has been too insignificant to express by figures. Nor has such an ambition as this ever dominated its projector. He will admit, however, if at any time a "monetary profit" should accrue, he should be properly grateful. Our correspondent's "old established custom" may be very commendable in itself and in its relation to him personally, but we are not seeking the information asked in the interests of any individual but for the Church, and that the Church is being served by our publication is more than proven by the almost complete unanimity of approval given to it by her Bishops, one of whom recently writes:, "Your book is a very useful element in the administration of the diocese." Not a whit less enthusiastic is the larger body of the inferior clergy with, of course, exceptions. One amiable brother with magnificent contempt not unmixed with sarcasm writes: "I return herewith your blank. As I am a minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church and have no connection with the 'American Church.' I presume it was misdirected." This correspondent represents a few others than himself. Their objection to our name and title may be justified by much as well present as past in the history of our illustrious branch of the Church Catholic. But we are not of those who live either in the past or the present for the mere sake of glorifying them; we, the rather, are reaching forward, and, in a small way, 'tis true, but yet effectively, we believe doing what we can to give impetus to a movement which is inevitable and to contribute to the determining of issues of more than usual import to the Church in the United States of America. A careful reading of the signs of the times will reveal the strong promise they give of a complete stripping by the Church of all that savours even remotely of denominationalism. At the same time we cordially respect the stand taken by those who have written to us on this subject and, for the present, court in turn their forbearance. Before passing to the consideration of other matters, it should here be stated that, in the main, the reverend clergy of our Southern dioceses and jurisdictions are far less strongly opposed to a change in the legal title of the Church than is commonly believed. The asterisk which prefixes the names of the clergy in the proper place indicates a desire for such a change.

Among others, one new feature of importance has been introduced into the Directory this year, which is likely to give rise to criticism, and for this we are prepared. However, we believe that by a brief discussion of our reasons for this addition here we may successfully disarm a portion of it. One of the leading and most honored priests in the Church writes:

> "I trust that you will not put in proposed new item—stipend. We tried that in this diocese and it has been tried elsewhere, and it gave a great deal of trouble. You will alienate friends by it according to my experience. It would lead to false estimates: a man ought not to be gauged by the stipend he receives. I know some priests that receive a stipend of $1,000 who are a great deal better men, pastors and theologians than others who receive eight or ten times as much money. Money is not a good test of spiritual or intellectual ability."

So far as our experience reaches, our reverend correspondent might have made the amount $600 rather than $1,000 as the stipend of those men whose gifts entitle them to greater consideration in the matter of "hire." It is in the interests of these very worthy men that we are taking this step in the Directory. The clergy as a class are sadly underpaid. A witty and thoughtful woman recently found herself in the presence of a number of clergymen who were discussing, as clergy do, a sermon by a reverend brother. He was an able man and saintly, but as was well known he received a very small stipend. The criticisms of the homily were not all favorable: "The poor man is underfed; his brain lacks nourishment!" exclaimed the lady. She saved the situation and introduced a decided change in the character of the criticisms and, we may add, told the truth. The work of the Church is suffering, in ways least suspected, by the fact of the pitiable (and pitiless) remuneration given to the clergy in a very large proportion of instances. Our recent kindly visitor, the Archbishop of Canterbury, said a short time ago: "It was just in proportion as the Church's work was made efficient that churchmen would be awakened to putting the incomes of the clergy on a proper level." We insist that the work of the Church will not be wholly efficient until clerical incomes are what they should be. In many cases, it must not be forgotten, the choice lies between abandoning an outpost of the Church or keeping a priest there on starvation wages. There seems to be a touch of heroism in the situation but we think very little common sense. A provoking feature of the whole situation is that our clergy are paid not because they are priests, officers of God's Church, but as they chance to be "eloquent," "of impressive appearance," "very successful in dealing with men" and so forth. We were gravely (indeed triumphantly) informed within the past few months by a leading member of the vestry of an old, well-established and exceedingly well-to-do parish: "We could, if we chose, pay our Rector three times as much salary as he is now receiving!" yet at the same time the vestry were extracting rental from him for the use of the Rectory and offering but a small stipend. That an increase of remuneration afforded the clergy is, almost universally, possible, has become a deep conviction with us and thus our endeavors to make the possible actual. "What is the matter with our parish?" asked an honest vestryman not so long ago. We did not hesitate to reply, "Your provision for the stipend of the Rector is inadequate." As a result the $1,000 a year quickly became $3,000 and we are in a position to state that the parish is, at least, no poorer. Another: "Do you know of a good man to succeed our present Rector?" "Surely! What salary do you give?" "So much." "I fear," we rejoined, "he could not live on so small an income." "If he be the man we want I will double the salary myself," came the ready declaration. The stipend was doubled, the clergyman was secured and is now in happy and prosperous possession of the parish. We feel increasingly that our vestries make the initial blunder in too many cases, of pinching the stipulated salary of their Rectors to the smallest amount possible. Hence we have the odious "Six-hundred-a-year man" or "Six-thousand-a-year man" as if true worth could ever be measured by such a gauge. If our parishes were to prayerfully arrange for, and as prayerfully give, largely increased offerings to those who are set over them in the Lord we are confident that the quantity as well as quality of the work done therein would be speedily and proportionately enhanced.

We have not succeeded in securing by any means complete returns in this department of the Directory, due, in large part, we incline to think, to an entire misconception of our aim, but as we shall not diminish our efforts after completeness in this or in other departments of our work we shall hope, as succeeding issues of the Directory are forthcoming to be able to present to those who have the welfare of the Church at heart statistics as well accurate as full. We trust to continue our work until the necessity to sue for forbearance no longer exists.

We believe that the table presenting the dioceses and missionary jurisdictions of the American Church together with their Bishops and Bishops-coadjutor with date of consecration will be found useful.

The second part of the Directory has undergone a complete change, nor can we but hope, for the good. The more or less elaborate tables there presented will repay careful study.

The labor of compiling them has been immense (much greater than it will be again), but while they purvey no new information (for it has been largely taken from the various diocesan journals), yet it presents in a form, accessible to all, facts and figures hitherto unobtainable save at considerable expenditure of time and means.

Again we must ask forgiveness for errors wherever found in the pages which follow; but at the same time it must be stated in common justice to ourselves that to the haste and carelessness of our correspondents many of them are due. We respectfully suggest that when the carefully prepared blank is again sent to the clergy that they will first read the directions given and then fill it up.

It is a pleasant duty to acknowledge the courteous letters we have received from Bishops, other clergy and laity, and to express our thanks for the suggestions (many of them really valuable) made and the encouragements bestowed.

Dioceses and Missionary Jurisdictions

With their Date of Organization, Bishops and Date of Appointment, Parishes and Missions, Clergy, Amount of Parish Income and Clerical Stipend.

NOTE—For the obvious incompleteness of a part of the returns following we are not responsible. We are, however, hopeful that future editions of this work will supply what is lacking. The sensitiveness and delicacy of the clergy not infrequently is creditable to them; but when it hinders the efficiency of an honest attempt to afford real aid it is unwise. We desire here to record our indebtedness to the various Church Almanacs for valuable aid.

The first financial statement in the lists following indicates the total parochial income, the second the stipend of Rector or Missionary. Wherever errors appear the editor would be grateful for immediate corrections.

They have a Fine Organ

An organ manufacturer speaking to a representative of the Indicator, recently said: "I don't mind saying to you privately that in the matter of imitating pipe tone with reeds, the Seybold People have us all beat." Those of the trade who have had occasion to examine the Seybold Reed-Pipe Organ, unite in saying that it is a fine instrument, even remarkable in some respects. They agree that the "pipe tone" is not a talking point merely; the pipe quality is there.

The above is an abstract of an article in the Indicator, of Chicago (a Musical Trades Journal), in its issue of March 26th, 1904. If our competitors speak thus of our instruments, what more could we say? Only give us an opportunity to let our organ speak to you in its own sweet tone, it is charming, it speaks for itself.

Built in styles suitable for the Church, Sunday School or Home. The cost is no higher than that of any high grade ordinary reed organ. Ask your dealer for a "SEYBOLD," the Queen of all Reed Organs, or ask us for our catalogue, it is free.

SEYBOLD REED PIPE ORGAN COMPANY, Dept. B, ELGIN, ILLINOIS.

The Living Church.

A Weekly Illustrated Church Paper for the family. Contains the important news of the Church in all sections, and intelligent discussions of subjects prominently before the Church. Always courteous and reliable.

Don't take your information about Church affairs from the secular press.

It is the intention of THE LIVING CHURCH to supply a bright, readable paper, attractive to Church people in general, telling in up-to-date fashion what is being done in the Church, and illustrating events of especial interest. There are also discussions of subjects of current thought, in a frank, open manner, without bitterness and with positive convictions. The editorial policy is consistently made known and is never evasive. The paper supports the Catholic Movement in the Anglican Communion, adhering to the Protestant Episcopal Church because it sees in her a living branch of the historic Catholic Church. We are loyal Churchmen, because we are Catholics, and should be untrue to our Catholicity if we were not loyal to the national Church of our Baptism.

Literary matters receive careful treatment. There are excellent correspondents from England and Europe, who relate the movements in those lands, and special correspondents throughout the world. The news of the American Dioceses in general is also gathered with care. A new department of Church Music has just been commenced under the editorship of G. Edward Stubbs, M. A.

TERMS: Subscription price $2.50 per year. To the Clergy a special rate of $2 00 per year. Special rates to parish guilds desirous of making money by obtaining subscriptions.

Before taking notice of startling advertisements of so-called Varicocele cures, see your family physician. Incidentally ask him about the celebrated Schnoter's Suspensories. Don't be surprised if he tells you he wears them himself. Any better indorsement wanted?

We are specialists in suspensory making and we will cheerfully give you any information regarding Varicocele and Rupture.
